From concept to design to construction to outfitting, explore modular cleanrooms and construction services for your site.

Whether you're looking to set up a new facility or renovate an old one, we can help you find the right modular cleanroom for your needs.

What is a Modular Cleanroom?

A modular cleanroom is a cleanroom made from prefabricated components. While modular cleanrooms can be as permanent as a cleanroom that's built with stud and drywall, they're easier and faster to build and are easily modified, reconfigured, and relocated. The main differences between a modular cleanroom and a traditionally constructed cleanroom are the materials used and the speed and cleanliness of the build.

We offer several types of modular cleanrooms, including softwall, rigidwall, and hardwall.

Construction Services

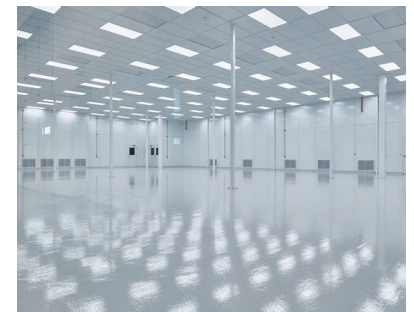

Softwall modular cleanrooms offer a flexible and cost-effective solution to create a cleanroom within any manufacturing environment. They are easy to install and easy to move within your facility and can expand or relocate to a new location as needed.

Rigidwall modular cleanrooms combine class and functionality, offering an elegant solution for most any cleanroom application. They are easy to construct, secure, and clean.

Hardwall modular cleanrooms provide the highest level of contamination and pressure control while also providing the ability to control temperature and humidity tightly and accurately. These cleanrooms are primarily built as freestanding structures and are capable of supporting HVAC or other utility equipment.

Seamless Cleanroom Solutions

Fisherbrand seamless cleanroom solutions are tailor made for the cGMP and pharmaceutical industries. These spaces often feature walkable ceilings eliminating ledges often found inside cleanrooms with grid ceilings. Coving at the floor at corners and from walls to ceilings provides an environment free of 90-degree corners, making cleaning a breeze.

Contact your Fisher Scientific sales representative for assistance designing and constructing the seamless cleanroom environment to suit your application.
